This policy ensures we can dedicate our full resources to your project from day one. Payment schedules and methods will be clearly outlined in your project agreement.

4. Project Timeline & Delivery

Project timelines are estimates based on project complexity and scope:

- Timeline estimates are provided in good faith based on project requirements
- Actual delivery dates may vary due to project complexity, client feedback cycles, or unforeseen technical challenges
- Client delays in providing required materials, feedback, or approvals may extend project timelines
- We will communicate any significant delays promptly and work to minimize impact

- Rush projects may incur additional fees (25-50% surcharge)
- Project completion is subject to final client approval
- We strive to deliver projects on or before the agreed timeline

Timeline adjustments will be communicated and agreed upon with clients as needed.

5. Client Responsibilities

Clients are responsible for providing the following to ensure successful project completion:

- Accurate project requirements and specifications
- Timely provision of content, images, logos, and other materials
- Prompt feedback and approvals during the development process
- Access to necessary third-party services (hosting, domain, existing systems)
- Payment according to agreed terms (full payment upfront for most projects)
- Reasonable and constructive feedback during review phases
- Final content review and approval before project launch
- Compliance with applicable laws and regulations for their business

Delays in client responsibilities may impact project timelines and may incur additional charges for extended project duration.

6. Intellectual Property & Ownership

Ownership rights are clearly defined as follows:

- Upon full payment, clients own the final delivered website/application and custom code developed specifically for their project
- Clients retain ownership of their business content, images, logos, and proprietary information

- Third-party software, plugins, and frameworks remain subject to their respective licenses
- We reserve the right to use completed projects in our portfolio and marketing materials (unless otherwise agreed)
- Any custom graphics, designs, or code developed specifically for your project becomes your property upon full payment
- We may reuse general concepts, layouts, or non-proprietary elements in future projects

Detailed intellectual property terms will be specified in individual project agreements.

7. Footer Credit & Attribution

Celestial Web Solutions reserves the right to display our company name and/or a "Developed by Celestial Web Solutions" credit in the footer section of any website we design or develop. This credit may appear as a small text link or logo in the website's footer, typically stating "Developed by Celestial Web Solutions" and linking to our official website.

This practice is standard in the web development industry and serves as a form of professional recognition and portfolio building. It does not affect the functionality or user experience of your website.

If a client wishes to remove this credit, a fee of 500 Ghana Cedis (₵500) or the equivalent in another currency will apply. This fee compensates for the loss of public attribution and helps support our business growth. The removal request must be made in writing before the project is completed and delivered. Upon payment of the removal fee, we will ensure the credit is not displayed on your website.

Exceptions to this policy may be considered for sensitive projects or upon mutual agreement, but must be discussed and confirmed in writing prior to project launch.
